

FIRE VICTIM
HEIRRESS TO O'DAY ESTATE

Little Catherine O'Day Would Have Share of Springfield Millionaire's Wealth on Reaching Legal Age, Had She Lived.

BURNED TO DEATH WHILE WITH LITTLE PLAYMATES

Toying With Fire, in Absence of Her Relatives, Child Ignited Clothing and Physician Was Unable to Save Her Life.

Had little Catherine O'Day, who was burned to death at her home, 5365 Cabanne avenue, lived until she was 15 years old, she would have inherited more than $100,000. Catherine was the daughter of John O'Day, the Springfield millionaire, who at his death two years ago left an estate valued at more than half a million.

The estate was to have been divided between the widow and three children, Catherine, John and Neely, who is now but 2 months old. The beautiful home at 5365 Cabanne avenue, which a few days ago resounded with the happy prattle of the little girl, is silent. How the accident that ended the child's life occurred no one exactly knows.

Mrs. O'Day and the nurse whose duty it was to watch the child were upstairs dressing for dinner. Little Catherine, with Lawrence Stone, the son of a neighbor, and John, her little brother, were out in the back yard making a bonfire of leaves. In some way the dress of the little girl caught fire and she ran screaming through the front door and up to where her mother was. Her passage was clearly marked by the bits of burned dress that strewed the stairway. Her mother caught her in her arms, and, wrapping a rug about her, put out the flames.

A physician a few doors away was hastily sent for, but in spite of his efforts the little one died at 7 o'clock Sunday evening.

The death of the little girl caused sorrow in more homes than the one in which she lived. Catherine was known and loved by all the neighbors.

The funeral was held from the home Monday. Long before the services began, groups of little children, lately playmates of little Catherine, gathered on the sidewalk in front of the house. They stood in subdued groups until the body was brought to the hearse and sadly watched it pass on to the cemetery.

Inside the stricken home the rooms were crowded with those who had known and loved little Catherine in life. The casket with its little brother, who was almost hidden by the great number of floral offerings. The services were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Nash of the Maplewood Baptist Church.

ELIZA COOK WON OUT IN A DRIVE

Took the Opening Race at Fair Grounds Tuesday by One-Half a Length.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. FAIR GROUNDS, Mo., Oct. 27.—It was almost cold at the Fair Grounds Tuesday. There was a touch of winter in the atmosphere, but it was relieved by a warm sun. The attendance was of the usual size and the track was lightning fast.

FIRST RACE, six and a half furlongs.—Eliza Cook 105 (Mathews), 15 to 1; won; John 110 (Miller), 9 to 5; second; Jim A Long 109 (Hack), 3 to 1; third. Time, 1:32 1/4.

Legation, Larouge, Zirl, Tenny Belle, Mathews, Hines and Collins were also ran. Won driving by half a length.

WITHDRAWING SMALL ACCOUNTS

Many Small Depositors at the Local Trust Companies Drew Balance Checks.

As a result of rumors, which, as usual, could not be traced, there were many withdrawals of small accounts today at the trust companies. At the Mississippi Valley the clerks were kept busy, especially at the noon hour. The officials made no attempt whatever to stay off the offices to dissuade depositors, though they pronounced the action as foolish.

It was suggested at the regular session of the Clearing House a statement would probably be made, but the incidents of the day, though reported, were ignored.

Prominent men in financial circles say the rumor is unaccountable, and that it is entirely unwarranted by the actual situation in financial circles. Women were in the majority amongst the depositors who withdrew their savings.

DESMOND TO GO FOR KRATZ

Sheriff Dickmann Will Probably Be the Chief's Traveling Companion on Mexican Journey.

Circuit Attorney Folk announced Tuesday that he had selected Chief of Detectives William Desmond as one of the men who will go to Guadalajara to bring Charles Kratz back to St. Louis.

Mr. Folk will leave the selection of the other officer to Sheriff Dickmann. The sheriff himself has expressed a desire to go to Mexico, and it is expected that he will go.

The officers will leave St. Louis either Tuesday night or Wednesday. They do not desire to arrive there before the extradition papers from Washington reach the City of Mexico.

CLAIRVOYANT SAYS SHE IS PRISONER IN BASEMENT.

The clairvoyant says, also, that the child is a prisoner, in a basement of a gray house in South St. Louis, and that she is pining and praying and weeping for release and return to her parents. Believing this, also, they are pushing their search with yet more diligence.

The clairvoyant says the child is being held for ransom, and the grieving parents declare that they are willing to give all they have to get her back.

LOVE WITHSTANDS
HUSBAND'S GUILT

Mrs. Arthur P. Day Pleads to Be Admitted to Cell Where He Is Confined.

MAN ADMITS EMBEZZLEMENT

"Good Thing" at the Races Caused His Downfall—Police Think It the First Offense.

Her husband's confession that he is guilty of embezzlement has not weakened Mrs. Arthur P. Day's love or faith. She begged to be allowed to share his cell in the Four Courts Monday night. When her tears and pleadings availed nothing, she went to her apartments at the Southern.

But she spent a sleepless night, and Tuesday morning she was back at the Four Courts at daylight again begging for an opportunity to see her husband.

He was "held for the chief," and the sergeant would not grant her request. "You will have to wait until the chief comes down," she was told.

Then she began a weary wait. She wandered aimlessly about the dark corridors of the gloomy building, seeking shadows in which to hide as she walked and wept.

Every few minutes she would return to the sergeant's desk; 20 times she was told that the chief had not yet come.

At 9 o'clock Assistant Chief of Detectives Keeley arrived, and Mrs. Day began to plead with him.

"I am busy with other cases now," he told her. "In an hour I may let you see him."

She was tired. She had not slept. She had had no food—not so much as a drink of coffee. Her eyes were heavy and her head ached from much weeping. She asked and was granted permission to sit in the chief's office.

She placed a chair in the most remote corner, and with tear-dimmed handskerchiefs and shaking hands shielding her veiled face, wept and waited.

Three Hours Into Her Husband's Arms. Shortly before 10 o'clock Day was taken from his cell and into Chief Keeley's office, where he was questioned as to the crime with which he was charged. The examination continued for half an hour. Not until 11 o'clock was he taken into the room where his wife was waiting, and she threw herself into his arms.

Day is accused by John Orrs & Son of St. Louis, Mo., by whom he was employed as a traveling salesman, of having embezzled $100,000 belonging to the firm. He says he has repaid $50,000. When arrested at the police station he had about $200 in cash and $300 in checks. The checks, he says, belonged to the firm, and he says he would have turned them in, but that it would have been impossible for him to do so.

Day was arrested, with his wife, when he called at Union Station baggage room Wednesday night to check his trunk. He was taken to the police station, where he was held until 11 o'clock, when he was taken to the room where his wife was waiting, and she threw herself into his arms.

Possession of Westmoreland and Portland Place Property Is Argued Before Supreme Court.

CABANNE HEIRS CLAIMANTS

Victory for E. C. Simmons and Fellow Petitioners Would Result in Quiet Title.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 27.—The Cabanne will case of St. Louis was argued before the Missouri supreme court in banc this morning. The case was brought by E. C. Simmons on behalf of the property owners in Westmoreland and Portland places to have established the claim of the grandchildren of John Charles Cabanne to the land now called in Westmoreland and Portland places.

The present occupants claim the title to the land under the children of John Charles Cabanne, but the grandchildren claim that their fathers only had life estates. Division No. 1 of the supreme court, at its last session, in an opinion by Judge Marshall decided in favor of Simmons and establishing the title of the present occupants, but Judge Valliant dissented from the opinion, hence the case came to the court in banc for rehearing and review, and final determination.

The value of the land involved in this suit is immense. The case was argued before the court this morning for the present occupants by F. N. Judson and Edward Cunningham Jr., and for the Cabanne claimants by E. C. Simmons and Joseph B. R. Vineyard of St. Joseph.

If the Cabanne claimants should win, the present occupants would hold Westmoreland and Portland places during the life of the Cabanne sons, who are still living. A decision in the case may be expected the last of November or in December.

SHE PAYS HER CLIENT'S FINE

Woman Acts as Lawyer Then Aids Again When Case Goes Against Her.

Although not a lawyer, Mrs. Martha Pape of Webster Groves acted as attorney for Baptiste Kramer, a former employee, who was found guilty of poisoning chickens, in the court of Justice of the Peace Barron Tuesday morning.

Kramer was accused of giving parts green to some valuable buff chickens belonging to his nearest neighbor, Ernest Pitkin of Thielma. Ten died.

Mrs. Pape addressed the court at the conclusion of the examination of witnesses and made a strong plea for the elderly man in trouble. She contended that the assistant prosecuting attorney had failed to show that the poisoning of the fowls was malicious. She also objected because the value of the chickens had not been proven, and surprised the attorneys by her alertness and knowledge of the law.

When the case went against her, Mrs. Pape smiled bravely and told the aged man she would pay his fine Wednesday morning. With this promise the court was content to release Kramer.

It was not until 1 p.m. that Mrs. Pape was called to the court. She was there to pay the fine of $100, which she had promised to pay. She was accompanied by her husband, Daniel, who lives at 3235 Park avenue.

Unemployed Fan Takes Poison. Unable to secure employment, John Latimore, aged 23, became discouraged and took laudanum at his boarding house, 1512 Old Manchester road, Monday night. He was taken to the City Hospital and will recover. His father, Daniel Latimore, lives at 3235 Park avenue.

GRANDJURY MUST HAVE ROBERTS AGAIN

Proceeding of the Blair Case Is Delayed While Search Is Made for the Witness.

Dr. Wyer Expresses Surprise That James L. Blair Was Able to Withstand Effect of Collapse at All.

IMPORTANT TESTIMONY IS DESIRED OF HIM

Dr. Wyer said of James L. Blair's condition Tuesday: "Mr. Blair's condition is the same today as it was last night. There is no improvement, and he is not any worse."

"Is there any hope?" "I would rather not discuss that point for a day or two. There is no doubt that there has been a concussion of the brain, although we have not determined how serious it is. Mr. Blair's condition is undoubtedly very serious, but I must decline to prophesy as to the chances for his recovery."

"Mr. Blair dropped into a sleep this morning." Dr. Wyer expressed his surprise at the fact that Mr. Blair's fall was not almost instantly fatal.

It is said that the crisis will be reached within 48 hours. It has developed that Mr. Blair's collapse at the Four Courts Oct. 19 when he sought Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Dalton to ask a warrant against Eugene C. Brokmeyer, was the result of morphia taken to prepare himself for the ordeal.

His second collapse on the private car "Kinkloch" en route to his home was also due to morphia.

The hopes of the physicians in attendance are diminished because of this morphia which their patient has consumed. It is feared that the effects of the drug have greatly weakened vitally.

MRS. BLAIR SACRIFICES SPLENDID STABLES IN HUSBAND'S BEHALF

Mrs. Blair began Tuesday morning the sacrifice of the magnificent horses and traps which made the Blair stables the finest in the vicinity of St. Louis.

Two traps and two or three sets of harness were sold to Wyatt Shallice of Kirkwood.

A handsome suburban wagonette was sold to Parker Bros., also of Kirkwood. Both purchases were removed from Stancote to Kirkwood at once.

Other sales are expected in the course of the day, as it is known that Mrs. Blair has telephoned to her friends at Kirkwood and Webster Groves, stating that her vehicles and horses were for sale, and that she would rather have them "pass into the possession of her friends and neighbors than into the hands of strangers."

It is understood that Mrs. Blair will not confine her efforts to raise money for the assistance of her husband to a sale of the horses and vehicles. Friends have been invited to make offers for many of the handsome furnishings of Stancote. Mrs. Blair stating that she will make every sacrifice that may be necessary to raise funds and place them at the disposal of her husband.

It is believed that these articles will bring an unusually good price, as their value is unquestionable, while the sympathy felt for Mrs. Blair is so strong and general that there will be little effort on the part of the purchasers to increase the revenue from the sacrifice that gives pleasure.

There were five saddle and harness horses and eight vehicles in the Blair stables. The vehicles are traps, a brake, runabouts and a carriage.

Percy Blair Comes to St. Louis. Percy M. Blair left Stancote Tuesday morning for the first time since his father's fall of Saturday. He took a 9 o'clock Missouri Pacific train for St. Louis.

He refused to discuss the business which was of such importance as to take him away from home while his father was in so critical a condition.

Mrs. Blair seldom leaves her husband's side, although there have been few moments when he showed even a faint sign of recognition of her. She bears up under the burden with remarkable fortitude, and shows plainly that all the troubles that have come are of less account to her than is the question of life and death that hangs in the balance of the coming hours.

DESMOND SEARCHES FOR CAREY

BLAIR; KNEW STORY BEFORE

Two important features of the part that the police department is playing in the investigation of the Blair story came to light Tuesday morning.

One is the fact that James T. Roberts told his story to Chief of Detectives William Desmond before he repeated it to the grand jury last Friday.

The other is that Chief Desmond had been trying for a month or more to locate Carey M. Blair, a younger brother of James L. Blair and has not been successful.

It is not known whether Chief Desmond questioned Roberts any more closely than was done in the grand jury room, or if he did whether he gained additional important information.

Carey M. Blair was last heard from in Arizona, to which place he returned after a visit to St. Louis, at the time of death of another brother, William A. Blair, who died in Arizona in the summer of 1901.

Carey Blair's name is in the St. Louis City Directory of 1898. He went to Arizona, where his brother, William, was living, in March, 1898. When William died a short while later, Carey came to St. Louis with the body, remaining for a few months before returning to Arizona.

Chief Desmond was asked Tuesday if he had been able to find further trace of Carey.

"I would rather not discuss that matter at all at this time," he replied.

There is no record that Carey M. Blair was ever connected with James L. Blair in his office. William Blair was in his brother's office for about six months after his graduation from the St. Louis Law School in 1896.

A dramatic interview between James T. Roberts and Judge Seddon occurred in one of the grand jury ante-rooms just before Judge Seddon was called to testify. Judge Seddon was sitting in a room just across the hall from Roberts, when Roberts was called to the stand.

TRIED TO PULL MULE BY NECK

Policeman Stopped Cruelty to Animal Which Had Fallen Into Trench.

"It is an outrage that in a city of 700,000 people an animal should be treated in such an infamous manner and the parties chiefly responsible escape arrest," said Judge Polard in the Dayton street police court Tuesday morning in imposing a fine of $20 upon Joseph Meyer, a teamster living at 4206 Page avenue.

Evidence at the trial showed that on Oct. 23 Meyer was driving a team of mules on Finney avenue, near Grand avenue, when the wagon slipped into a trench dug to lay gas pipes. Then one of the mules fell in. Efforts to get the mule out were made by Meyer, who put a rope around the animal's neck and tried to pull it out. A patrolman stopped him.

The repair wagon of the transit company in charge of David Shambler, superintendent of the eighth district, drove up. A rope was passed around the mule's body between its forelegs and an attempt to pull it out resulted in turning the animal completely over on its back in the ditch with its feet in the air.

This cleared the street car tracks of an obstruction which had blocked many cars and detained between 60 and 70 people. The transit company crew then left the scene with the mule lying helpless in the ditch, according to the evidence at the trial.

The police then took up the case. Sgt. Clark and Patrolman Butler, Cosgrove, Martin and Thierhaus put a rope around the mule and dragged it forth.

After several vain efforts to rise it lay still upon the ground. It was paralyzed and could not stand.

The Humane Society was notified and sent Special Officer Holmes, son of President Holmes, to the spot. He examined the mule, found it quite useless and ordered it shot.

Meyer was arrested, charged with careless driving and cruelty to animals in sign, for a mule with a galled neck, and fined $20.

Mrs. Ellen Grant of 4206 Page avenue, owner of the mule, stated she would bring suit against the transit company at once for the value of the mule and would prosecute its representatives for cruelty to animals in abandoning the mule in the ditch.

Judge Polard said that if the men who were responsible for the abandonment of the mule were brought before him he would fine them as heavily as the law permitted. The maximum fine is $100, and the court said that five times that amount would not be excessive.

"How," asked the very young man, "can one tell when love is only platonic?"

"When it develops into the other kind," replied the charming widow, "one can look back and see the difference."

ABSENCE OF "TIDDELYWINKS" BREAKS QUIET AT "STANCOTE"

In the stress of life at "Stancote" "Tiddeleywink" discovered that he was not receiving the attention to which he is accustomed, and, being of adventurous spirit, he determined to see the world and find companions to his taste.

"Tiddeleywink" is a very handsome brindle bulldog with an intelligent eye and a pair of pert ears with which he makes his gestures.

About his neck he wears a huge brass-studded collar on which is an engraved plate which says: "Mrs. Blair's Tiddeleywink."

From his general appearance a stranger would hardly put him on a too friendly footing with "Tiddeleywink" on short acquaintance.

"Tiddeleywink," as he is known to his intimates, is a first-class gentleman with a prognathous jaw lined with a row of teeth that would make a shark look like a gentle grammarian's beast. The field by comparison, and a wicked, old-fashioned eye that would throw a peace-loving citizen into a frenzy.

But these evidences of a fierce and blood-thirsty nature are all a bluff, so far as "Tiddeleywink" is concerned. He is as gentle as a sucking dove and as friendly as a book agent. In fact, extreme friendliness is one of "Tiddeleywink's" failings.

He makes no distinction between the raggedest of tramps and the gentlest of the elite. When one visits the Blair mansion for the first time he is likely to experience something of a shock when he meets "Tiddeleywink" bounding down the road to meet him with wide-spread jaws, looking as if his whole interior was lined with red flannel, and he looks for a convenient tree to climb.

It is an additional shock that the intruder is not able to perceive whether the dog is friendly or otherwise by the usual sign, for "Tiddeleywink's" tail has been abbreviated to such an extent that it has not a wag left in it.

But when "Tiddeleywink" actually arrives he is friendly or otherwise by the usual sign, for "Tiddeleywink's" tail has been abbreviated to such an extent that it has not a wag left in it.

His Bark Really a Friendly Greeting.

A further evidence of "Tiddeleywink's" blurring propensities is his short, rough bark that sounds truly appalling to one not conversant with dog language which, after all, merely sounds like "Hello!" when one gets to understand him.

There are other dogs about the place, but not owe him a cent, nor does he owe us a cent.

When asked in regard to the letter that arrived at the Blair home Monday afternoon from the World's Fair headquarters Mr. Francis said:

"I sent no letter to Mr. Blair Monday evening."

Whether he sent a letter to Mrs. Blair President Francis did not say.

"Mrs. Blair is an official of the Exposition and I prefer not to discuss what her communications may have passed between her and myself," Mr. Francis added.

Determination to see a little girl whom he met two years ago and who resides in Litchfield, Ill., caused John Valentine, 13 years old, to appropriate $21 of his father's money and run away from his home in Collinsville, Ill.

The youthful gallant was caught in East St. Louis Tuesday after he had purchased his ticket to Litchfield, but got away again at the relay station, where his father had taken him. He is presumed to have proceeded to Litchfield.

John left home Monday morning at 7 o'clock. His parents presumed that he had gone to school.

Had he, he took an electric car to East St. Louis. An officer saw him acting in a suspicious manner near the relay station and arrested him. The lad told him who he was, and his parents were notified.

Mr. Valentine arrived in East St. Louis Tuesday morning and stated that he had returned home with the boy. While his father's back was turned the boy had escaped.

The little lady there in whom he is interested he met about two years ago, when both John and the maid were 11 years old. He saw her again last month at a picnic.

50 PER CENT CUT IN PIGIRON.

Lack of Orders Forces Furnace Operators to Take Heroic Measures.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 27.—The circular letter sent out by J. G. Butler, president of the Yungtown, president of the Bessemer Furnace Association, asking pig iron producers to vote on a plan to curtail the production 40 per cent this quarter, has not received serious attention. It is said, because of the fact that the production will be curtailed close to 60 per cent.

The original plan was to cut it down 25 per cent, but the furnace operators generally in this district are holding their output far below that from the simple scarcity of orders.

On the other hand, the billet market is looking up. The demand has been increasing considerably within the last few weeks and is being filled from stock. The leading furnace operators look to a recovery in pig iron demand after the opening of the next quarter.

COUNTRESS TRIED IN BOGUS HEIR CASE

Polish Noblewoman and Husband
Charged With Falsely Representing Child as Their Son.

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—The trial of Countess Isabella Westenska Kwieciek, belonging to a rich and aristocratic Polish family, on the charge of pretending to have borne a son over six years ago and presenting him as the heir to an estate at Wroblew, Province of Posen, consisting of 10,000 acres and having a yearly rent roll totaling $15,000, has begun here.

Count Kwieciek appears at the trial charged with being an accessory to the crime.

The countess was arrested Jan. 22 of the present year, and the count was taken into custody Aug. 5. One midwife and two women servants were also placed in the box as accessories.

She was born in March, 1846; married the count in 1864 and bore him three children, the last in 1873. Then, the count and countess say, the latter gave birth to the son, who is the cause of the present proceedings. This son is said to have been born Jan. 27, 1887.

The prosecution says that the latter is the son of a peasant girl of Posen, in the Austrian Silesia, and is present as a witness and as a claimant for the child.

Count Majewski Kwieciek, a member of the Prussian House of Lords, and his wife, Countess Kwieciek, a member of the Reichstag, contested, as next of kin, the legitimacy of the countess's son about two years previous to her arrest, but, after a lengthy trial at Posen, she was acquitted, and the countess and the count, her husband, continued to live quietly on the Polish estate, spending the winters in fashionable Berlin society.

ARMENIAN LEADER SHOT IN LONDON

Assassinated as He Was Entering His Residence in a Suburb of the City.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—Sagouni, president of the Armenian Revolutionary Society in London, was murdered in the suburb of Nunhead late yesterday evening. The crime has created a sensation, as it has every appearance of being of a political character, and has been preceded by the assassinations of other officials of branches of the same society on the continent.

M. Sagouni, who only returned to London yesterday, after settling up the affairs of an associate in Switzerland, who was recently assassinated by stabbing, was entering his residence when a man rushed across the road and fired four shots at Sagouni in quick succession, the last bullet entering the region of the heart. The murderer, who appeared to be a foreigner, fled. The only clues to the man in possession of the authorities were a felt hat and a silver-plated revolver, both made in New York, which he dropped in his flight.

The murdered man, who was a mining engineer, became wealthy in the Caucasus and devoted his money to the Armenian cause. His society was entirely passive and opposed to violence, and it is thought the attitude inspired the advanced section of the Armenians with the desire for vengeance.

The latter claiming that Sagouni's society devoted funds to charity which would have been better applied to violent remedies for the Armenian grievances.

Sagouni is said to have moved to England from New York early in 1922.

It is stated that Sagouni's life had been threatened on account of his participation in the exposure, by the editor of a Boston newspaper, Young Armenia, after the misappropriation of funds by a faction of the Armenian revolutionists. These men are alleged to have collected $2,000 in America in 1922 and to have put the money in their own pockets instead of paying the propaganda for the emancipation of the Armenians, for which the money was subscribed.

WOULDN'T HAVE SON TALK TO GIRL

Because his son, David, 15 years old, talked for half an hour with a neighbor girl, Stephen Alsbury has left his family. His departure has been reported to the police by Mrs. Alsbury, who believes that her husband's love for home life will bring him back within a short time.

David Alsbury and his young lady friend were conversing about 3:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, when Mr. Alsbury came home. He saw them on the porch and when David came in reproached him for his conduct.

About 5 o'clock Mr. Alsbury took up the matter again and announcing that if he could not have things as he wanted them in his own home he would leave it, put on his hat and departed. He has not returned since.

"Force-thoughts"

BY SUNNY JIM

Oct. 27

I HAVE added a new word to the language—"Force-thought." It's the quality which marks the members of "The 'FORCE' Society."

Force-thought is something like forethought, only it begins sooner and goes further.

Forethought is the kind of thinking that when put into action accomplishes things—makes them easier.

It is the sort of thinking that nets a profit to the thinker.

It recognizes that in order to think for profit—to think hard and clearly with one's mind—one must begin with one's body and eat the sort of food that nourishes the body without burdening the stomach and supplies the brain with the food it needs to think with.

The one food which best helps clear, concentrated thinking is "FORCE."

The first principle of Force-thought therefore is eating "FORCE."

But there's more to it.

Be Sunny.

Yours truly,
Sunny Jim

AGED SENATOR STEWART KNEW BRIDE 5 DAYS

Though 76 Years Old, He Courted With Extraordinary Ardor and Speed After He Was Introduced to Her Last Wednesday.

HE FELL IN LOVE WITH HER PICTURE 3 MONTHS BEFORE

Introduction Followed Brief Correspondence and Venerable Statesman Married Without Consulting His Indignant Daughters.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Senator Stewart's marriage to Mrs. Mary Agnes Cone at Atlanta yesterday ends a brief romance which proves again that age wears no armor Cupid's dart cannot pierce.

Senator Stewart is 76 years old, the oldest member of the Senate.

His bride is about 40 years of age.

Beyond the fact that she is handsome and has a wealth of red-brown hair, little is known of her here save that the senator fell in love with her when he first saw her photograph three months ago.

Exactly how the correspondence between them began no one can say, but they exchanged more or less ardent epistles until last Wednesday. Then Mrs. Cone came to Washington and the senator first met her.

If he had greatly admired her picture the widow of more than a year was captured by the original. He sought to interest Mrs. Cone in his home and domestic affairs and invited her to be his guest at his fine country place, Ashburn farm, near Washington. Amid rural surroundings the courtship progressed so quickly that the happy couple left Washington for Atlanta Saturday.

Daughters Heard of It Too Late.

Mrs. Bessie Hooker Stewart, the elder of the senator's two daughters, was at Hot Springs, Ark. There, on Saturday night, a woman friend sent her hasty news of her father's visitor. She immediately recovered sufficiently to start for Washington but arrived here too late to stop the run-aways. Indeed, she passed the senator and his sweetheart on their southward flight.

Senator Stewart's other daughter, Mrs. Payson, wife of Paymaster Payson, U. S. A., was not in Washington and knew nothing of her father's love affair.

No one who knew him supposed Senator Stewart to be so romantic.

It is suggested that the certainty of his daughter's disfavor led him to the course he took.

He sold to Senator Clark of Montana his splendid house in Dupont circle, which he had entertained so lavishly. He has leased his fine old house at 2 and Eighteenth streets to Senator Spooner of Wisconsin.

It is thought he will soon bring his wife to a hotel here for the winter, or they may reside here for the winter. Then three more youthful brides of more aged senators will stand in rank before Washington society. While Mrs. Dewey is well established socially both in this country and Europe, it remains to be seen how the wives of Senator Platt and Senator Stewart will be received in official society.

Senator Stewart has a sweeping snow-white beard that hides his collar and necktie and much of his face. But he is straight and strong, has a fine, ruddy complexion, and bears his years with dignity and vigor.

In taking a second wife in his maturer age he may be following the encouraging example set by his distinguished associates in the Senate. Thomas C. Platt and Chauncey M. Depew of New York.

Senator Dewey was 67 years old when he married Miss May Palmer at Nice, France, in December, 1901.

Seventy years had ripened Senator Platt when he took to wife, January, 1902, not long ago. Then Mr. Dewey wrote to Mrs. Platt he was doing precisely the right thing to render happy the autumn of his days.

Besides, to encourage him, Senator Stewart has the precedent set by the Marquis of Donegal, who married when he was 82, and to whom his beautiful Canadian wife presented a son and heir recently.

LOST HIS JOB BUT FOUND IT

Twelve-Year-Old Harry Ferguson Could Not Locate Place Where He Was Employed.

"I have a good job, but I can't find it, and I want you policemen to help me," said Harry Ferguson, aged 12, between sobs, at the Chestnut street station at 1:15 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Thomas Conlan, officer in charge of the station, assured the worried boy that if he had a position it would be found for him, and questions were forth the fact that Harry had gone to work in a lantern and lamp factory for the first time on Monday, but he was unable to find the place next morning.

He said it was near the Eads bridge, and was a seven-story building, and he thought it was on Second street, but he had walked up and down until he was tired and could not find it. At last he had come to the police station for assistance.

A patrolman was sent out with the boy, and half an hour later he found his job at a manufacturing company's plant at 22 North Third street.

DISAPPEARS AFTER A SMOKE.

Mystery attends the disappearance of John M. Lyons, who boarded until recently at 1321 South Ninth street.

Lyons came to St. Louis from Thompson, Mo., four weeks ago. Three weeks later he was gone and neither his relatives nor the police have been able to learn his whereabouts. His pipe lay on the table and his clothes were strewn about the room as if he had only stepped out of the room. At the time of his disappearance he is said to have had a small amount of money in his pockets.

Two weeks ago his sister, Miss Catherine Lyons of 5138 Washington avenue, reported his absence to the police. Hearing nothing of her missing brother, Lyons was again to the police station Monday night and again begged assistance in locating him. Lyons is a widow's mother living in Richmond, Mo., but she has not been informed of her son's disappearance.

Decker and Robertson Settle.

Louis Decker and George Robertson, former House of Delegates members, later partners in a mail contract business and recently parties to a suit in which sensational allegations were made against Robertson, have agreed to let their lawyers settle their troubles. Decker alleged that Robertson kept some of the firm's money for his own uses, and sought to at- tain what remained of a $1000 retainer.

HOLDS BABY DURING PLEA

Charles Wanders Keeps Child in Arms While He Presents Wife's Case in Court.

Charles Wanders of 66 Bond avenue, East St. Louis, holding a baby in his arms pleaded his wife's cause so successfully in a case in Justice Beach's court Tuesday morning that she was discharged.

Mrs. Wanders had been arrested on complaint of Michael Hussey, a neighbor, who alleged that Mrs. Wanders had thrown garbage out of her kitchen door onto his overalls, spotting them. She denied this charge ever threw garbage out of her back door, but admitted she did sometimes throw dishwater out in that manner. She insisted, however, that she had never thrown any of the water on Hussey.

Mr. Wanders, who is not an attorney, but who acted as his wife's counsel in the case, introduced as one of the witnesses for the defense, Patrick Flannery, Mr. Flannery testified that the second ward, the one in which the Wanderses reside, is the cleanest ward in the city and that the people there never throw garbage in their yards.

Throughout the case, even during the argument and while he was cross-examining witnesses, Mr. Wanders continued to hold a small child in his arms.

ACCUSES BROTHER OF MURDER

Woman Causes His Arrest on Charge That He Killed Her Husband

86 Years Ago.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Oct. 27.—Isaac Stover was arrested today on a complaint filed by his sister, charging him with murdering her husband, Edward Stover, at Logansport, near here, over 25 years ago. She says she was an eye-witness to the murder, with two other persons.

Stover, she says, killed her husband with a poker during a quarrel. It was agreed to keep the murder a secret if Stover would leave the country.

He did, but returned recently, and has been living with his father, who was buried today, and to whom she says Stover had been cruel, which caused her to reveal the crime.

WENTZ HELD FOR RANSOM IN MOUNTAINS

Developments Seem to Indicate That the Missing Man's Relatives Are Negotiating With Kidnapers in the Wilds of West Virginia.

STRANGE CASE OF MISSING WEALTHY PHILADELPHIAN

General Belief at Bristol, Where Relatives Are, That the Mystery Surrounding His Disappearance Will Be Cleared Away in a Few Days.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
BRISTOL, Tenn., Oct. 27.—All developments in the past few hours have tended toward a clearing up of the mystery of the disappearance of young Edward L. Wentz in the mountains on the Wentz estate 15 days ago. From a close observation of the movements it looks as if the missing young man may be restored to his parents in the next few days.

While the members of the family and their corps of attorneys refuse to make any statements regarding new developments, their actions have been very strange in the last 48 hours, and it is thought negotiations are now going on in some city east of here with kidnapers. J. L. Wentz, a brother of the missing man, and Charles Wax, the superintendent of the Wentz estate in South West Virginia, came to Bristol yesterday and spent the night here. Their chief attorney, J. F. Bullitt, was missing from the city. He had silently left on an eastbound train after receiving a cipher telegram, the contents of which were not communicated to the members of the firm; neither did he permit them to know where he had gone.

J. L. Wentz seemed gloeful. He attended the Holston Club and played pool until late in the night, and then went to a hotel. He had engaged rooms. Mr. Wentz stated to your correspondent that he had nothing new for the press, that the matter still remained a mystery to him. He said that if he would remain here in the city some time, and he replied that he could not tell just how long yet. When asked if he would return to Philadelphia from here he stated that he had some important business to look after first, that they had an important deal on hand.

Mr. Wentz and Mr. Wax left here on an early eastbound train this morning together. They had watched the train carefully last night. The train from the East three hours later brought J. F. Bullitt back to the city. He was accompanied by Samuel Wax, agent of the Wentzes in Philadelphia. When they left the train at the Bristol Station one alighted from one side and went in one direction, while the other alighted from the other side of the train and went in another direction. In about an hour's time they came together in a back room in the Holston Club building.

Others of the Wentz attorneys also arrived at the club building and joined the previous arrivals. They were closeted about two hours, after which Messrs. Bullitt and Wax were driven to the Virginia & Southwestern station, where they boarded a Pullman car for the Wentz estate. Mr. Bullitt said at the station that he had no new news. When asked if he thought Mr. Wentz was alive he said he thought he was, as the search had been so thorough in the mountains without finding him. He said he had been to Philadelphia and New York to trace to origin the report that was sent out from Philadelphia that Mr. Wentz was alive. He said the search would continue in the mountains until they were thoroughly convinced that he could not be found. It is the general opinion now that Mr. Wentz has been kidnapped, and recent developments give strong evidence to the belief that he is being held somewhere away while negotiations are going on in an eastern city for his release. Mr. Wentz, who has been aiding in the search in the mountains, said today that the mystery will be solved within a week. He said he was not familiar with the plans of the detectives who are making the investigation, but did know that some of the shrewdest work was done on the case that had ever been recorded. He said that further the investigation was carried on the more he was convinced that Mr. Wentz is alive.

If negotiations are being carried on, as supposed, it is quite likely that a hitch occurred as to the amount of the ransom, which caused the Wentz agents to return today. It is thought that the search in the mountains is being carried on now to allay suspicion of negotiations with the kidnapers. Dr. and Mrs. John S. Wentz still remain at the Wentz mansion on the estate.

Shot Woman, Killed Himself.
SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 27.—Crazed with the knowledge that she had deceived him for another man, Claude H. Arbuckle, formerly a floor walker in a local dry goods house, last night fired two shots into Gladys Grey, formerly a variety actress at Nome, in a room at the Hotel Cecil, and then blew out his brains. The woman will die. The first bullet lodged in the girl's lung and the second shot, fired with the muzzle of the gun pressed against her back, set her off in a fire.

Paper Will Keep Out Rain.
The ornamentation to be used on the Chinese building is to be of paper mache, and will be made by a Milwaukee concern. The model from which the ornamentation is to be constructed is the work of expert Chinese wood-carvers. The paper used will be soaked in paraffine wax until thoroughly saturated, and will then be coated several times with linseed oil paint. Rain, it is said, will have little effect on the ornamentation, provided the water can run off freely.

After his wound was dressed at the City Dispensary he was taken to his home at 230 Howard street.

Order Issued for Complete Demobilization of Reserves.
LONDON, Oct. 27.—In a dispatch from Sofia, Bulgaria, the correspondent of the Times says an order has been issued for the complete demobilization of the Bulgarian reserves, all of whom will return to their homes tomorrow.

This apparently marks the end of the war scare, the correspondent concludes.

CROIX D'OR TO WIN THE HANDICAP

Favored in the Weights. He Should Beat Little Scout and Flintlock.

TABY TOSA FOR THE PLACE

Fields Are of an Average Size and the Racing Should Be Formful.

BY R. D. WALSH.

FAIR GROUNDS RACETRACK, Oct. 27.—There is an average of 10 horses to each race this afternoon, and the scratching will probably bring it down to nine. This is not too many, and, with a fair class of horses entered in the various events, the sport should be good to look at as well as clean and formful.

One of the best handicaps of the season is arranged in the fourth race. It is for 3-year-olds and upward, at a distance of a mile and a sixteenth, and it has a splendid field of seven thoroughbreds engaged in it. It is not easy to say what will be favorite. A Maginn handicap gives every horse an equal chance, and it is seldom that a favorite wins one of them.

Little Scout is honored with top weight in this race, and although he is a high-class horse, I do not think he is able to give away so much weight to such a good field, especially at this distance.

If the route were a mile and an eighth or a mile and a quarter he would have an excellent chance of winning, but the distance is a little too short for his peculiar abilities. The handicapper has put a nice package on Flintlock, but his recent pronounced victories made this inevitable.

He is in fine form just now, and has shown that he is an animal of uncommon ability. Still, weight will anchor the best of them, and Flintlock must be far better than he is generally considered if he can win here. He takes up seven pounds over his last race.

On their previous races this fall Taby Tosa holds Flintlock and Little Scout perfectly safe. Taby has had a good rest of three weeks, and he should therefore come out good and fresh today. The distance is a little too short for him also, yet he can hardly be worse than second if he has retained his form of a month ago.

Croix d'Or Should Win Handicap.

Croix d'Or is my choice in this handicap. A week ago he ran in a handicap at this distance and was beaten a small margin by Flintlock and Dan McKenna. In that race he carried one pound more than Flintlock and today the Hughes horse is carrying seven pounds more than he. This is a handicap of eight pounds in his favor. Croix is the speediest horse in the race and with an advantage in the weights over his last race, will be hard to beat. He will probably set the pace and his policy will be to make a runaway race of it unless he falters in the last Lean, lanky men with narrow shoulders, need not despair.

The "Croak Cure" for narrow shoulders is the Croak collar and shoulder. It's not a bunch of unsightly padding but a scientifically moulded concave effect.

YOUNG CORBETT TO MEET HANLON

Men Finally Matched to Meet Before San Francisco Club for Twenty Rounds, Dec. 29.

IMPORTANT FIGHTS SCHEDULED THIS WEEK.

Tuesday.
Young Corbett vs. Hugh Murphy, Boston, 10 rounds.

Al Weing, vs. Joe Millet, Oakland, Cal., 20 rounds.
Peter Jackson vs. George Cole, Philadelphia, 6 rounds.

Philadelphia Tommy Ryan vs. Billy Rhodes, Omaha, 15 rounds.
Peter Jackson vs. Charlie McKeever, Philadelphia, 6 rounds.

Saturday.
Chick Tucker vs. Johnnie Matto, Philadelphia, 6 rounds.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—That long talked of match between Eddie Hanlon of San Francisco and "Young Corbett," featherweight champion of the world, has been made. The men will meet at San Francisco, Dec. 29, before the Hayes Valley Athletic Club. On that date Corbett was to have met Ben Jordan of England, but the contest was deemed a weak one, owing to Jordan's poor showing. Jordan was dropped at the request of Frisco sporting writers and Hanlon substituted.

Tonight at Boston, Young Corbett will take on Hugh Murphy in a 10-round contest before the Criterion Club. This will be a sharp affair, according to report, as Murphy is no mean antagonist. Corbett is in good shape now and can go the 10 rounds nicely if he need be. For the big fight of December, Corbett will need all the lights and training he can get. Hanlon and Corbett have met before and the result, after 20 rounds, was a draw. Corbett, however, was in no shape for a battle at that time and threw away his money for first money by neglecting to get down to weight until the last day. He took off pounds of flesh the day of the fight and went into the ring weaker than a kitten.

The championship fight will be a 20-round affair, the men to make 125 pounds at the end of the evening of the fight, Eddie Graney to referee.

GREAT YEAR OF RACING HERE

Horsemen Pleased With the Success of the Sport in St. Louis—The Winter Tracks.

The close of the fall meeting at the Fair Grounds will find a large number of horsemen and trainers undecided as to where to go during the winter months. San Francisco will probably get the largest number.

The uncertainty about dates for the Hot Springs meeting will militate against that city, although a large number have already promised to go to the Vapor City, regardless of whether the Western Jockey Club gives it dates or not.

The beautiful weather that has obtained here all through the racing season has greatly pleased horse owners. Among the important trainers who will go to the coast is Harry Robinson, owner of a small but select string of thoroughbreds. He has been connected with the turf only since 1897, but during that short period has been remarkably successful in the developing of race horses.

Two seasons ago he was washed New Orleans with the marvelous victories of Death From the East, a cross-country steeplechaser he developed this horse into one of the best of his class ever seen on the American turf. His successes at Chicago with Walkenstow and others were equally notable. For a few weeks Harry Robinson has seen his colors flash to the front frequently. He is presently in a credit during his winter connection with the turf he has never been called "the winter jockey" but rather the "winter victor" at Oakland, his winter position at end. Robert's object is to get a win on this stable during the winter.

DELANEY WANTS A QUARTERBACK

St. Louis University's Eleven Sadly in Need of an Accurate Passer.

St. Louis University football circles are very badly shaken up since the death of Quarterback Wynne. Delaney is left without a suitable replacement and a search for a new quarterback is being made. Capt. Caldwell has been filling the position at quarter since the accident to Wynne, and has been doing fairly well. Schaffly was relied upon to take Caldwell's old position at end. Parental objects to a suitably keep Schaffly out of the game for the remainder of the season, leaving either quarterback or end open.

No suitable candidates for either place have developed so far. The team will probably face Warrensburg in no shape for a hard game. Yesterday's practice with Caldwell at quarter was slow. The Smith Academy eleven and the Marist team have been making the showing of the regulars was not in the least encouraging. Caldwell's play for Smith in the few plays in which the academy eleven figured.

Delaney's men will surely have to pick up much in the next month if they are to have a chance of winning. The situation is nothing like the varsity men in weight, but their form right now is 100 per cent. Riordan himself is a scoring machine of the past, but three men on the St. Louis University team.

Dillon and Delaney are working hard to get the team back into the game. The situation is nothing like the varsity men in weight, but their form right now is 100 per cent. Riordan himself is a scoring machine of the past, but three men on the St. Louis University team.

Rolla, next Saturday's opposing eleven, is no world beater, according to report. The team was rolled in the last game by Missouri University eleven and did not show much in the way of play. The team was rolled in the last game by Missouri University eleven and did not show much in the way of play.

The local team is said to be due for another bad deal at Rolla. There is small hope for the team unless they can get a win on Saturday. The local team is said to be due for another bad deal at Rolla.

Rolling the state university eleven is apt to prove a task beyond the powers of the Washingtonians. Drake, Grinnell and Simpson have all given victories over the Columbia team, but the three colleges united have strong teams made up of semi-professional players. Missouri is sufficiently strong to take a crimp in the Washington back in the game and a hope for Schaffly's team is that they have their claws trimmed. But—

M'CHESNEY ADMITTED BEST

East Takes Off Its Hat to the Unde-feated Champion of West—Will Be Retired.

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—All talk of matching Horace and McChesney for the championship is off. McChesney, the greatest horse on the turf, in the opinion of the West, will be retired for the season, according to his owner.

The great, grey-headed horse has earned a rest. His game and consistent racing has won the admiration of the critics here, and until some performer beats him under equal conditions he will be considered the premier of the year.

What McChesney can do when pushed to his limit can only be guessed at. In those races in which he has won from the best he has not been so pressed. His defeats this season came only when he was too heavily handicapped.

Minister Leads in Protest.

A protest against the granting of a saloon license in Brentwood to William Soehngen, made by a delegation of Webster Grove citizens is before the County Court at Clayton, Rev. C. I. Kioske, pastor of the First Congregational Church, led the delegation. Soehngen's petition for a renewal of his license was granted by the court yesterday with having pleaded guilty to a violation of the Sunday closing law. The court continued the case one week.

LACY CRAWFORD FAITS TO LOWER TIME IN AUTOMOBILE RUN TO CHICAGO

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—G. Lacy Crawford and a party arrived here yesterday morning after a fast automobile run from St. Louis. The attempt to cover the distance in record time was a failure, however. The party left Mr. Crawford's residence in St. Louis at 1:35 p. m. Saturday with the intention of making the distance in 30 hours or less. Bad roads and difficulties with the machine prevented the accomplishment of this record run. A little over 40 hours was the required time.

In the party beside Mr. Crawford were Chauffeur Webb, Mrs. Crawford and Mrs. Richardson.

Mr. Crawford and his party may attempt to beat this time on their return trip to St. Louis. The machine was geared to do 55 miles an hour, but the condition of the roads did not admit of attaining such speed except in a few places.

The party was hampered in making time by the presence of the ladies. Chauffeur Webb says his machine can cover the distance in 15 hours if he makes the trip alone, and if the road conditions are good.

the proud position of the only big team not scored on so far this season. Glaze of Dartmouth ran 60 yards down the field until Miller overtook him with a pretty tackle. Dartmouth's offense, while slow in starting, had good impetus and made good gains into Princeton territory. Princeton's center men were forced several times to do their best on defense in order to take the ball away from Dartmouth and prevent a touchdown.

But the hardest fight of all was the one in which Yale defeated West Point 17 to 6. Kinney and Bloomer were out of the Yale line, and the Cadets tore it apart. Yale had the material for a stiff fight when they faced the Crimson line a week ago.

The record of Yale-West Point games for the past 10 years is a record of close games, and those that Yale has won have been won after the Yale team was all in.

Last Saturday's conflict was no exception. The record of Yale-West Point games for the past 10 years is a record of close games, and those that Yale has won have been won after the Yale team was all in.

Yale's Game With West Point Devel-oped Several Sources of Disap-pointment to Eli Coaches.

BY CHARLES CHADWICK.

Saturday's football games show that the big teams are beginning to shape in about the following order: Harvard, Princeton, Yale, Columbia and Pennsylvania.

Harvard defeated Brown impressively by a score of 29 to 0. Princeton scored 17 to 0 on the heavy Dartmouth team after a stiff fight. Yale had her usual case of heart disease at West Point. The Cadets scored first and Yale won, 17 to 5.

Columbia's victory over Pennsylvania by a score of 18 to 6 was the first important match of the season.

This would all seem to indicate that the chances of the Quakers defeating Harvard were slim. Still, Pennsylvania has a strong team, and if the backs can learn to hold the ball a defeat at the hands of Harvard is not by any means a foregone conclusion.

Harvard, in contrast to Yale and Princeton, played the best game she has showed this season. The writer has said all along that Harvard had the material for a first-class eleven. The game with West Point, won easily in listless fashion, 6 to 0, showed a lot of Crimson players who only needed encouragement to make them play a fast game.

The practice of the past week has evidently shaken the men together, for against Brown Harvard played a game which recalled the fast mid-season work of Dibble's 188 team or Campbell's 1901 team. The score was the same, 19 to 0. Princeton has run up, and one point less than Pennsylvania has run up against the same team yet the way the game was played indicates that Harvard is far from being a par with Pennsylvania or Princeton. Brown made only two first downs in the game, and the longest gain made against the Crimson rush line was four yards.

Harvard Has Great Defense.

The Crimson's 35-yard line was not once reached in the game. Harvard's defense was most impressively accurate and contained not a single weak spot. Her center trio, Robinson, Sugden and Marshall, are in class above Yale's or Pennsylvania's center men.

On the offense, the encouraging feature of the brilliant individual work of Nichols the star left half who caught a kick-off on a field for a touchdown and later on repeated the performance by catching a punt on Brown's 45-yard line and dodging through the entire Brown team again for another touchdown. All this was pleasant enough to the crowd of Harvard men on the bleachers. But what caught the eye of the Harvard coaches on the side line was the team work in offense.

The improvement in mass plays and line blocking has been most noticeable. The team got together to help a runner along by short gains and by the time the Brown line was swept back on every play was the important item in the work of the Harvard team.

Princeton's Line Is Yet Uncrossed.

Princeton's team showed some improvement in defeating an eleven like Dartmouth's, which outweighed the Orange and Black and was quite as aggressive. But Princeton had to put up a fight, which while not as stiff as the fight Yale had to make to win from West Point, was nevertheless totally unlike Harvard's easy time with Brown.

De Witt and Vetterlein were both relied on to defend Princeton's goal a great many times. Once Vetterlein received such a poor pass that he was obliged to dodge a man before he kicked. Princeton's offense at an open rushing game was unable to make the slightest impression on Dartmouth's line, and Capt. De Witt had to keep up a running fire of punts all through the first half. The only touchdown of the half was due to Dartmouth's fumble of one of those punts on her eight-yard line.

Princeton then took the ball and, by a series of formations, which are favored by the rules between the 25-yard line and the goal, forced the ball over. The touchdown was about as much in a manner exactly similar to the scoring in the first half of the Columbia-Pennsylvania game.

Princeton's offense played a faster game in the second half and scored twice, but her troubles were not ended here. Whenever Dartmouth had the ball anything was liable to happen. Deperate individual work on defense was the only thing which kept Princeton in

JONES WILL PLAY WITH THE BROWNS

National Baseball Commission Decides Against Baltimore's Claims to the First Baseman.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 27.—Thomas Jones will occupy first base for the St. Louis Browns next year.

The National baseball commission, in session here yesterday, awarded Jones to the St. Louis Americans instead of the Baltimore Eastern League, which claimed the player on the ground of a contract made prior to the national agreement.

The verdict was a big relief to Secretary Hedges of the Browns, as the club would have been without a first baseman in event of an adverse decision. Jones is reputed a hard hitter and a clever fielder. Other awards follow:

Champ Osteen, awarded to Washington American League; Ed A. Walsh, awarded to Chicago American League; James Delahanty, awarded to Boston National League; Albert Jacobson, awarded to Washington American League; Fred C. Raymer, awarded to Boston National League; Geo. Wrigley, awarded to Chicago American League; — Fisher, awarded to Boston National League; Roy Montgomery, awarded to New York American League; Frank Smith, awarded to Chicago American League; Tom Dougherty, awarded to Chicago American League; A. Joseph Brown, awarded to Pittsburgh National League.

Horse Was Badly "Doped."

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 27.—Dr. W. W. Way, a 4-year-old, showed the effects of too much "tea" so plainly that Jockey Hildebrand left his saddle, swore he would not ride such a crazy brute and put him in the hands of two grooms who were having all they could do to handle him.

ordered the field back to the paddock, scratched Dwight W. P. ruled Ketcham his trainer. Of the track for a while and ordered a new book. Dwight Way showed his "doped" more plainly than he been done by any horse on a race track in a long while.

Peterson Defeated Luka.

Peterson again defeated Luka in the three cushion handicap tournament Monday night, the score showing 50 to 44. Luka showed brilliant form, although Peterson's game was steady all the way through.

CRUSHES OUT THE LIFE

The most loathsome and repulsive of all living things is the serpent, and the vilest and most degraded of all human diseases is Contagious Blood Poison. The serpent sinks its fangs into the flesh and almost instantly the poison passes through the entire body. Contagious Blood-Poison, beginning with a little ulcer, soon contaminates every drop of blood and spreads throughout the whole system. Painful swellings appear in the groins, a red rash and copper-colored spots break out on the body, the mouth and throat become ulcerated, and the hair and eye brows fall out; but these symptoms are mild compared to the wretchedness and suffering that come in the latter stages of the disease when it attacks the bones and more vital parts of the body. It is then that Contagious Blood Poison is seen in all its hideousness. The deep eating abscesses and sickening ulcers and tumors show the whole system is corrupted and poisoned, and unless relief comes soon this serpent disease tightens its coils and crushes out the life. The only antidote for the awful virus is S. S. S. It cures permanently the most desperate cases.

SSS nature's remedy, composed entirely of vegetable ingredients. S. S. S. destroys every vestige of the poison and removes all danger of transmitting the awful taint to others. Nothing else will do this. Strong mineral remedies, like mercury and potash, dry up the sores and drive in the disease, but do not cure permanently.

Some men buy shoes because they like the style. Wear, price, even comfort, are of less importance.

Now, it is a fact, susceptible to ocular proof, that there is more distinctive style in Regal shoes than in any other shoes. The most expensive custom shoe makers in New York, Boston, and London are making shoes for us all the time. These go to our factory and serve as models. We do not slavishly follow them—we have ideas of our own, many of which the swell custom man is glad to adopt for his own trade. We spend time, and money, and energy, to get the latest limit in style.

We make 149 styles to suit all tastes, and we serve equally well the man who wants the "latest" and the conservative man who asks for the same shoe year after year.

NEWSBOYS HAVE A REALLY WARM TIME

Enjoy an Evening With the Minstrels Without Being Bothered by Other Society.

CHEERED TO HEART'S CONTENT

Also Saw a Couple of Boxing Bouts and Heard an Address by Father Coffey.

Monday night was one that will be long remembered by the hundreds of little fellows selling the Post-Dispatch in the downtown district.

We can all go back to our boyhood days and remember little incidents that took place that caused great happiness. So with the Post-Dispatch newsboys.

The entertainments given by the Post-Dispatch shall always be remembered by the boys as long as they live.

The Sunlight room in the Post-Dispatch building was crowded Monday evening with hundreds of Post-Dispatch newsboys and their friends.

The boys "turned in" in double-quick time and rushed for their seats. All were placed in positions so as to enable them to see the show without crowding and they anxiously waited for the performance to begin.

Suddenly the sound of the beating of drums reached their ears, and all rushed to the Broadway windows of the Post-Dispatch building to hear and see the St. Leo's Five and Drum Corps.

More fun between drum and fife and the leader and the corps formed in a file and entered the Post-Dispatch building, where they were warmly welcomed by the newsboys.

All was now in readiness for the performance to start. Miss Hattie Ward, piano accompanist for the minstrel company, took her place at the piano and the show began.

The entire company took their place upon the stage.

"Gentlemen, be seated," was given by Interlocutor William H. Gorton, and the fun commenced. The end men, in black-face makeup, carried on in a comical manner, and the boys laughed to their hearts' content.

Frank Buflin was announced to sing "Good-Bye, Eliza Jane." The song was well rendered and greatly pleased the boys.

"She Lives in Alabama," by John E. Mahoney, was next, the entire company joining in the chorus. The boys demanded an encore, which was gladly given.

The next number was one that caused every person, both newsboys and visitors, in the large audience, to applaud.

Master Adrian Padon, the possessor of a most remarkable soprano voice, sang "O-Cott's Song." He was called forth repeatedly and each time seemed to please more.

With proper care Adrian shall be heard of some day in the operatic world.

Byone Padon, the company's mascot, was next on the bill, and he made a hit with the boys in singing "My Heart-Breaker Rag." Byone, like his brother Adrian, has a very fine voice, and was compelled to respond to an encore.

He was accompanied by his brother, dressed as a girl, and they proceeded to dance ragtime. This act was one of the distinct hits of the evening.

"The Girl I Should Have Married," by P. J. Kelly, "Chicken" by Charles Donavan, "Laura Lee," by Vincent Ryan, "In Sunny Africa," by Vincent Ryan, "Be-White of Your Eyes," by Leo McGinness, "Under a Panama," by Charles Mulcahy, and "He Merry Tonight," by John Clancy, completed the first part.

After an intermission of five minutes Father Coffey spoke on the benefits of entertainments of this kind. He said such evenings served as rays of sunshine, bright spots in the boys' lives. Newsboys wanted hard and were entitled to the many pleasant evenings the Post-Dispatch had arranged for them.

Father Coffey spoke of how newsboys had opportunities to better themselves, and cited instances of prominent men "rising in the ranks."

"Would you like to become President of the United States?" he asked. "The boys all cried 'You bet!'"

He then warned them on gambling and other vices, and instructed the boys to always be wide awake and have an eye for business for the Post-Dispatch, the paper that looked to their interests.

The boys listened attentively to all that was said and commented on the advice they had received.

Looking out through the glass he saw a man trying to open the door. He was working quietly. Mrs. Carney watched him a moment or two to be certain she had not made a mistake, and then fired twice through the glass.

The man took to his heels, apparently unhurt. When an officer arrived the man was nowhere to be seen.

County Sues for Fees.

A dispute as to the rights of Illinois city treasurers to retain certain fees is to be settled in a suit filed by the City of Belleville against former City Treasurer George Bender. The amount for which judgment is asked is $2500, the amount which the city really claims is $1834, and suits may be filed for the balance later.

Engineer Terribly Scalded.

Death or to be a cripple for life are the alternatives that await Charles Glassmeyer, engineer for the Federal Lead Co. at Alton, Glassmeyer saw a leak in a steam pipe in his engine room Monday and went to repair it. Just as he reached the pipe it burst off and he was scalded. He was taken to the hospital and is now in a critical condition.

Dies in Ambulance.

While Mrs. Mary Padden of 715 Converse avenue, East St. Louis, was returning home Monday evening with her daughter, Marie, from a shopping trip, she was taken suddenly ill and died in an ambulance which had been summoned to take her home. Heart failure is presumed to have been the cause of death.

"ALL POLITICS" KRATZ'S PLEA WITH FRIENDS

Extradition Case, With Every Point Thus Far Decided Against Fugitive, Is Passed on to the Higher Mexican Authorities for Final Decision.

ENJOYS PARTIAL LIBERTY IN HIS JAIL "OFFICE"
BY C. C. RIDER.
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

GUADALAJARA, Mexico, Oct. 27.—Charles Kratz, with every point that has so far come up decided against him, is continuing his fight against extradition.

He is conducting his own case to a large extent, and with almost as much freedom as many convicts as though he were not a prisoner.

The Guadalajara jail is the Kratz headquarters. To his office—a small apartment adjoining the inspector's office, which is his lodging place—come his attorney, Senor Fernando Castanos; his bosom friend and former fellow-councilman, Charles Carroll; John Schneider, formerly a St. Louis brewer; his business agents and mine managers; messenger boys and mail carriers, and all the men who offer or seek friendship, or who find other excuses to consult him.

This small room is his office. He has the use of the inspector's desk and other conveniences. He sees whom he will, what he wants and does what he chooses, except that he may not leave the prison premises.

But Kratz has so far lost every point which has come up in the extradition case. The officials here have been advised by the federal government that the St. Louis fugitive is not a Mexican citizen in the eyes of the Mexican law, and may be held 30 days to await the arrival of extradition papers from Washington.

Case as Good There as Here.
This was a keen disappointment to Kratz. He had made all his preparations to plead Mexican citizenship, and to urge the point that, as a Mexican citizen, he could not legally be held for a longer period than three days.

It is expected that Senor Fernando Duret, legal adviser of the department of foreign relations, will soon announce a decision in regard to some of the legal points in Kratz's case. Senor Duret has just returned to the City of Mexico from Caracas, where he represented the claims of Mexican citizenship in the Venezuelan arbitration cases, and advised received here are to the effect that he has taken up the Kratz case.

It was not known positively that he has reached any decision, but word was received here this morning that he made the significant statement, soon after he had received the papers in the case, that if the evidence against Kratz was sufficient to cause his indictment in St. Louis the extradition would be that it was strong enough to warrant action against him here.

If it should develop that Kratz was correctly quoted in this matter, and that, as indicated, the Mexican federal government will waive the extradition, it is admitted that Kratz's case is considerably weakened.

Kratz, however, is depending largely upon his personal "pull," which he has been diligent in establishing during his residence in Guadalajara, for assistance.

There is no doubt that he has "made himself strong" with a certain element here, and one that has considerable local power, even though its influence with the federal administration may not be important.

Kratz has been "cultivating" everybody that he thought could be of assistance to him in this contingency, which he has foreseen from the beginning. His residence here. He has, beyond doubt, made a warm friend of the inspector of police. The inspector arrested Kratz when he was ordered to do so, but he made the blow fall as lightly as possible by apologizing profusely, and by joining his prisoner in a few cooling drinks before taking him to jail.

Kratz and his friends have been diligently pleading "persecution for political purposes" ever since his arrest, and, in fact, they had been introducing that argument whenever the Kratz case came up for discussion. Previous to his arrest, he had convinced many persons here that the efforts to get Kratz back to St. Louis are parts of a huge political game and nothing else.

DISS DE BAR "SPIRIT" PAINTINGS ON EXHIBIT

Pictures for Which Marsh Paid Fortune, Attract the "Prophets" Followers Who Believe Dead Artists Made Them at Her Invocation.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—A small coterie of the once large following of Ann Odella Diss de Bar still remains true to the "prophets." It turned out yesterday when the "spirit paintings" were placed on public exhibition for the first time in the Fifth avenue art galleries.

They are the paintings for which Luther R. Marsh gave a fortune.

Many of the visitors displayed something like admiration for the pictures, the belief that they were painted, as Diss de Bar declared, by the spirit fingers of the masters.

Mr. Marsh averred that he had seen the canvases executed by Verelbeekhoven, Van Dyke, Bartel, Velens, Paulus, Potter, Cigoli, Jordans, Salvator Rosa and other great artists under the invocation of Diss de Bar.

Persons outside the influence of Diss de Bar said the pictures were the work of her husband, who was a good painter. She covered the canvases with chalk, to be erased at the spiritualistic seances.

There are others who say the paintings are genuine, and that they were collected by S. L. Loewenheit, it was time an art dealer in New York.

MRS. BEDFORD IS BACK TO FIGHT
Returns to Confront Persons Who Accused Her of Passing Off Spurious Child.

BATTLE FOR HER HUSBAND
Renewal of Legal Contest That Has Attracted Attention on Two Continents.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—"I have come back to fight, not for myself alone, but also for my dead husband. I have been working for months to obtain certain evidence against the people who have sought to do me and my husband so much harm and now I have it. I will fight to the last ditch."

Such is the deft Mrs. Gunning S. Bedford has issued to her enemies.

Mrs. Bedford has just returned to this country from France, where her husband died Feb. 18 of this year. She has returned to fight for the fortune he left, and over the distribution of which an exciting contest is promised.

The case already has caused much comment, the most startling incident of it having occurred in May last when Mrs. Bedford was arrested in London and charged with attempting to pass off as her own a foster child in order to obtain a legacy of $50,000 left by her husband. She was arrested on board the Cunard liner Umbria between Queenstown and Liverpool, and after being kept in jail a week, appeared in Bow street police court, in London. In court she admitted the child was adopted and was fined $50.

After her release Mrs. Bedford returned to this country and engaged counsel. Shortly after she returned to France and has been there for several months. While she was there the child, over whom the dispute arose, died.

In addition to fighting for the fortune left by her husband, Mrs. Bedford says she wants vengeance for the wrongs she has suffered at the hands of her enemies.

"I promise you that when this matter is aired in court next month, there will be surprises," said Mrs. Bedford. "Those persons who were instrumental in having me arrested and kept in jail in England for a week will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. They have accused me of nearly every crime on the calendar, and now the time has come for them to pay the penalty."

"I have evidence that they do not dream of—evidence that they imagined had been so cunningly done away with. I will be able to find it, but they are mistaken."

"As to the child, the little one is dead, and while I will be entitled to even more than I would have received if I were willing to give up every cent to have my baby with me today. She was dearer to me than all the money."

"In their efforts to injure me they introduced the testimony of people I had never seen or heard of. I was nervous and worn out, and rather than go through a trial and have my name in the papers, I was willing to give up every cent to have my baby with me today. She was dearer to me than all the money."

"But now, well, they will pay for it all and with interest. It was greed that induced them to injure me, now they shall fight."

Gunning S. Bedford, over whose fortune her widow and other relatives are now fighting, was the fourth of his name. He was the son of Dr. Frederick Bedford, a wealthy physician, who died at his home, 65 Fifth avenue, in 1891. His uncle was Gunning S. Bedford, who was one of the most prominent members of the bar in this city. The uncle died at the Windsor Hotel in 1881. The new Mrs. Bedford, who was a cable was dispatched to him by his uncle, expressing the wish that his plans should not be changed in case of his (the uncle's) death. The bulk of the uncle's fortune went to Gunning S. Bedford, who continued to reside abroad, mostly in France and England, until the time of his death.

Bedford's grandmother was founder of the Medical College of New York University, his great-grandfather, was named Gunning S. Bedford, was on Washington's staff during the Revolution, and became judge of the supreme court and later governor of Delaware.

WOULDN'T PUNISH INNOCENT.
Workman's Plea Causes Workhouse Sentence to Be Stayed.

The tearful plea of his wife and the presence of a baby girl saved Daniel Murphy from a fine of $5 and costs in the Day-ton street police court Tuesday morning. Murphy, who lives at 1030 Newstead avenue, was found guilty of noisy and abusive conduct at Fifteenth street and Locust avenue.

"Oh, Judge, don't send him to the workhouse," cried Mrs. Murphy after the court had passed sentence upon Murphy. A few questions convinced the court that the woman was telling the truth and the fine was stayed during good behavior.

JAS. KEHLOR DEAD; ILL FOR 10 YEARS

Had Made Fortune as Miller During His 35 Years Residence in St. Louis.

Arrangements for the funeral of James B. M. Kehlor, millionaire mill owner and "change operator," will be completed Tuesday. The services will be held at the family residence, 8 Vandeventer place, either Wednesday or Thursday. Rev. Michael Burkhart will officiate.

Mr. Kehlor's fame and fortune were made during the 35 years that he was a resident of St. Louis. He was born in Scotland in 1841 and came to this country in 1873.

After living for a short while in Wisconsin and New Orleans he came to St. Louis in 1878 and began to build up the business which, under the name of Kehlor Bros., has come to be known as one of the largest firms of millers, exporters and speculators in grain in the country.

John Kehlor, a brother, who remained in Kenosha, Wis., when James went to New Orleans and thence to St. Louis, was the other member of the firm. He died several years ago and since then the St. Louis brother has been sole owner of the business.

Mr. Kehlor had suffered from locomotor ataxia for 10 or 12 years and by slow degrees the disease extended to his vital organs, finally causing death.

His surviving children are Mrs. George E. Tower, Jr., Mrs. Peyton Carr and Mrs. C. R. Dittus. His widow and daughter, Mrs. Duncan Kehlor, also survive him.

KILLED BY HIS OWN WAGON.
Weight of Heavy Load of Sand Crushes Farmer's Skull.

Edward Myers, son of William Myers, a well-known resident of Pleasant, was run over by his own wagon and killed Monday afternoon. The front wheels of the loaded wagon passed over his head, crushing his skull.

Myers was hauling sand for a neighbor. He had loaded his wagon when the team ahead of him became stuck in the mud. He un hitched his wagon and helped the other driver out of his difficulty. When he again hitched his horses to his wagon they became unmanageable and ran away, throwing Myers to the ground, his head in front of the wheels.

STERNBERG WILL COME BACK.
BERLIN, Oct. 27.—The foreign office denies that there is any truth in the report published in the United States yesterday that Baron Von Sternberg, the German ambassador at Washington, will not return to his post. The officials say the ambassador will return to the United States at the end of November.

ARCHBISHOP RYAN, FORMERLY A ST. LOUIS PRIEST, TO BE A CARDINAL IN JANUARY

ARCHBISHOP PATRICK JOHN RYAN.

Heads List of Americans, Eligible for That Honor, Submitted to Pope.

ROME, Oct. 27.—The Pope has requested from Mgr. Merry del Val, the papal secretary of state, and Cardinal Gotti a list of the foreign prelates in the jurisdiction of the secretariat of the state and the Congregation of the Propaganda, who are considered available for the appointment as cardinals.

In the list of Americans presented by Cardinal Gotti, Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia stands first, Archbishop Ireland of St. Paul coming next, followed by Archbishop Farley of New York, and Archbishop Chappelle of New Orleans.

Contrary to rumors that several American cardinals will be created at the January consistory only one will be nominated. He will, of course, be Archbishop Ryan.

Archbishop Ryan will be the third American cardinal, the others being Cardinal Gibbons and the late Cardinal McCloskey. Archbishop Ryan, who was born near Thurles, Ireland, in 1831, was ordained priest in St. Louis on Sept. 8, 1853, over fifty years ago. He was made coadjutor bishop of St. Louis in 1882 and named archbishop of Salamina by Pope Leo XIII in 1884. On the death of Archbishop Wood, the same year, Archbishop Ryan was made archbishop of Philadelphia.

BOY SAVES KITTEN IN BURNING HOUSE

When Pet Escapes Him Riot Follows
Among Youthful Population of Neighborhood.

TEAMSTER ESCAPED BULLET

Squirreling Animal Carried as Football, and Runner, When "Down," Starts Fight.

Into a blazing house at 2925 Chouteau avenue ran Lafayette Brown, a 10-year-old colored boy, to save a kitten. When he fell in the alley and lost his tiny pet, there was a general fight among the boys of the crowd which resulted in a shooting Tuesday morning.

One boy, whose name the police do not know, pulled a small revolver from his pocket and fired. The bullet flew wide of its mark and pierced the coat of Gus Thomas, a passing teamster, who lives at 2708 Gravois street.

Thomas was unhurt, but the frightened boys scattered in all directions, thinking the driver was wounded. The bit of lead had barely torn the cloth.

No one was in the house, which was a lodging place of laborers. They went to work in the quarries early in the morning as usual. But the man who cooks for the house, left the door open to the fire.

Lafayette Brown, who lives near the corner of Le Salle and Josephine streets, hurried with the other boys to the fire. As they crowded about the rear door from the alley he saw the black kitten sitting on the inside of the window sill, eyeing the smoke and flames with puzzled concern.

He watched it for a minute as its back arched, and then astonished the other boys by darting in the back door and seizing the kitten.

As he came out all crowded around him, each demanding the squirming animal. Lafayette started to run with his kitten, like a football player running for a goal. Another boy tackled him, and he fell. The next moment the kitten was gone.

Lafayette struck the nearest boy, who truck back, and the fight and shooting followed.

When the firemen extinguished the blaze Assistant Chief Shea found the damage to be about $500 to the building, which is owned by Mrs. Anna Cook of 1401 Stewart avenue. Edward Donker has a paper-hanging shop in the front part of the house, and sustained about $100 damage. In the rooms of the laborers, some of the clothing were consumed. There was no insurance.

RECEIVED BY THE POPE.
Cardinal Moran and Delegations From England and America.

ROME, Oct. 27.—The Pope today received Cardinal Moran in faraway audience. The pontiff was most affable to the cardinal, speaking about Australia, and also about the English-speaking countries generally, saying their common liberty in the exercise of their religion represented the best field for the growth and spread of Catholicism. After the audience Cardinal Moran presented a select number of English-speaking people, America being represented by Mr. and Miss Butler and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Baltimore, to whom the Pope addressed the kind words, gave them his hand to kiss and bestowed on them the apostolic blessing, which was extended to their families.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The following bulletin was posted at the navy department today:

"Puerto Plata, Santo Domingo, is reported by Minister Powell to be in a state of revolution."

Revolts and revolutions are common things in Santo Domingo. It is rare, indeed, when some section of the land is not at war with the government.

JOSEPH JEFFERSON IS ACTOR AND SPEECHMAKER IN THE SAME EVENING

Lew Dockstader made another successful ascension with his airship last night. It looks like Lew had that $100,000 Lewisana Purchase Fair prize in his gamebag.

"Rip Van Winkle" was doubly delightful at the Olympic theater Monday night, for it gave us the venerable Joseph Jefferson in the double role of actor and speechmaker.

The house was filled to its outermost corners. Here and there, perhaps, was an auditor who did not know the lines of the play almost as well as Mr. Jefferson knows them, so the big audience could not be construed as being anything but a splendid compliment to Mr. Jefferson, dean of the American stage.

The audience was quick to make its demand upon him. It came at the end of the first act—an outburst of applause. Mr. Jefferson appeared and announced that he would speak at the conclusion of the play. He kept his promise. His speech was not long, but it was sweet and full of the gentleness of him; and it sent his audience out of the theater looking affectionately upon his picture in the Olympic vestibule.

Mr. Jefferson said he had postponed his response until the end of the play in order that it might not interrupt the thread of the story, by which statement we are enabled to understand how sacred to him the story is. He said he was deeply grateful that he could appear in strength and health before an audience of people, many of whose parents and grandparents he had entertained in years gone. By way of reminiscence, Mr. Jefferson said he first appeared in St. Louis in the character of Rip Van Winkle 35 years ago, and that 32 years ago he played in the old Ludlow & Smith theater at Third and Olive streets as a boy. He ended by saying it made him feel a Rip Van Winkle, indeed, to walk the streets of St. Louis and witness the transformation worked within the span of his first and last appearances upon the St. Louis stage.

As for "Rip Van Winkle," it was, as always, simple, delightful, immutable. If there has been a change in it in all these years it is only this—that Mr. Jefferson looks better the part after the long sleep than he does before. To be sure, he is still a dancer with the village girls, and he is still a quiet, steady, and his years will not be hid, and they lay upon those first scenes a quiet charm which belongs wholly to Joseph Jefferson and "Rip Van Winkle."

There are some painful dramatic inadequacies about Van Winkle. "Rip Van Winkle" is a sweet and simple story with a halo of the patriarch Jefferson's personality about it, and we borrow his toast to express the hope that he may live long and prosper.

Mr. Jefferson plays "Rip Van Winkle" again Tuesday and Thursday nights and at the Saturday matinee. Wednesday and Friday night he will play "The Rivals," and Saturday night "The Cricket on the Hearth" and "Lend Me Five Shillings."

The Columbia Bill.
It is certain the Columbia's audiences will not slumber this week. A livelier lot it would be hard to find than the people who opened Monday afternoon. They are capable of entertaining an audience in more ways than two or three ordinary vaudeville bills could hope to offer.

Emmett Corrigan is the principal actor. He was there several weeks ago, and his work was such that he was engaged for a return engagement. He made his first St. Louis appearance Monday in "The Pot and the Kettle," a sketch written by Oliver J. White of St. Louis. The sketch is a play upon the line, "The pot called the kettle black."

The scene is the room of a clubman in New York City. Into this room steals Corrigan, a gentleman burglar. He is after the diamond of the friend who lives here. He searches high and low, and cannot find it. There is a noise at the window, and in slips a girl, also a thief. She, too, has heard of this diamond. She stumbles upon Corrigan, thinks him master of the place and pleads that he let her go. Corrigan is touched with remorse and lectures the girl in the room. In the end, though they have found the diamond, they put it back and go out together. The sketch has sentimental strength, but it is not enough dramatic strength to make Mr. Corrigan to exhibit his skill. He is an actor of exceptional ability, and "The Pot and the Kettle" must be strengthened if he is to continue in it. Otherwise, he would be wasting much of his talent.

There are other good things at the Columbia this week. "Mr. and Mrs. M. R. M." have a right good sketch, and "Whit Doogan" and "Billy Clifford" are a good thing. He is dainty musical, bright. Clayton Kennedy and Mittle Romney, eccentric dancers, are the liveliest pair seen at the Columbia in a long time, and Kennedy keeps the house in continuous laughter. Other things here this week are Swan and Bamford, comedians; the De Van sisters, in a 11-piece comedy; the Mervin Sisters, character comedians; Holmes and Waldron, comedy musicians; Martin and Rikway, on the wire, and Monsieur Zano, musician.

Irving's Tour Begins.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Before a fine audience at the Broadway Theater last night Sir Henry Irving began his eighth American season. He scored a distinct personal triumph.

His new spectacular play, "Dante," by Victorien Sardou and Emile Moreau, though it presents the great Italian poet in heroic dramatic mold, is one of the least of the French master of theater's work. Short of its elaborate scenic setting and the genius of its leading actor, it closely approaches rank melodrama.

The translation used was the work of Lawrence Irving, who has set the original French into dignified, smooth-flowing and rhythmic blank verse.

In a speech Sir Henry, who is described on the program as "the cause of the play," by referring to the play as one in which authors and actors had endeavored to turn some of the terrors of this world and of the next.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S HAIR.

Its Great Profusion Was Always a Cause of Wonder.

Even at the age of 80 years, Queen Victoria's hair was a marvel of luxuriance. The court physician, following Prof. Unna's discovery, undoubtedly treated Her Majesty's scalp with a germ-destroying preparation that was not made public. It is now known, however, that the remedy for dandruff, the germ-destroying element, is embodied in Newbro's Herpicide, the only hair preparation on the market that does destroy the dandruff germ. Without dandruff, hair will grow profusely, and falling hair will be stopped. Destroy the cause, you remove the effect. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Judge & Dolph, Raboteau & Co., Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., special agents in St. Louis.

HAND SAPOLIO

Is especially valuable during the summer season, when outdoor occupations and sports are most in order. GRASS STAINS, MUD STAINS AND CALLOUS SPOTS yield to it, and it is particularly agreeable when used in the bath after violent exercise.

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work"

When Monday Rolls Around

BULLET DIVERTED BY A POCKET RULE

John Arntzen's Life Probably Saved
by Wooden Instrument—Thos.
Killeen Under Arrest.

A foot rule in a pocket of John Arntzen's vest diverted a bullet which would have struck his heart in a shooting affray in front of Thomas Killeen's saloon, 417 Chestnut street. But three bullets from Killeen's revolver hit Arntzen, who fell to the sidewalk seriously wounded.

Killeen is under arrest. The streets were crowded when the firing took place Monday evening and a stampede followed the reports. Patrolmen took the revolver from Killeen's hand.

The quarrel is said to have begun over the alleged criticisms of Arntzen on Killeen's saloons and the patronage of the Marine Engineers' Association, of which Arntzen is president.

One bullet entered Arntzen's abdomen; a second struck his thigh, and a third his right leg. He was taken at once to the City Hospital.

Arntzen is 35 years old and lives with his wife at 1112 Monroe street. He has been chief engineer of many steamboats on the Mississippi and was lately with the Lotus Sims. He resigned several weeks ago.

Killeen was formerly in the steamboat business with his father, who operated a line on the river. Now he owns two saloons in St. Louis. The two men were the warmest friends until Monday, when a sudden dispute ended in the use of a revolver.

Letters from Prominent Physicians addressed to Chas. H. Fletcher.

Dr. F. Gerald Blatter, of Buffalo, N. Y., says: "Your Castoria is good for children and I frequently prescribe it, always obtaining the desired results."

Dr. Gustave A. Hiesinger, of St. Paul, Minn., says: "I have used your Castoria repeatedly in my practice with good results, and can recommend it as an excellent, mild and harmless remedy for children."

Dr. E. J. Dennis, of St. Louis, Mo., says: "I have used and prescribed your Castoria in my sanitarium and outside practice for a number of years and find it to be an excellent remedy for children."

Dr. B. A. Buchanan, of Philadelphia, Pa., says: "I have used your Castoria in the case of my own baby and find it pleasant to take, and have obtained excellent results from its use."

Dr. J. E. Simpson, of Chicago, Ill., says: "I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."

Dr. R. E. Bakke, of Omaha, Neb., says: "I find your Castoria to be a standard family remedy. It is the best thing for infants and children I have ever known and I recommend it."

Dr. L. R. Robinson, of Kansas City, Mo., says: "Your Castoria certainly has merit. It is not its age, its continued use by mothers through all these years, and the many attempts to imitate it, which recommend it. What can a physician add? Leave it to the mothers."

Dr. Albert J. Weston, of Cleveland, O., says: "I have used your Castoria in my practice for the past eighteen years with the utmost success."

Dr. Edwin F. Pardee, of New York City, says: "For several years I have recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."

Dr. N. B. Sizer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., says: "I object to what are called patent medicines, where maker alone knows what ingredients are put in them, but I know the formula of your Castoria and advise its use."

ROOSEVELT VETOES GORGEOUS UNIFORMS

Public Opinion Changes His Mind
About Making White House
Look Like Foreign Court.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The President has backed water hard on the plan of Secretary Loebe to put all the servants, messengers, doorkeepers and ushers around the executive mansion in livery and Mr. Loebe now has the responsibility for the attempt to give the White House the glitter of the court of St. James.

Following the example of President McKinley, Mr. Roosevelt has declared that this is a republic, and that to dress the White House attendants like furies would be thoroughly un-American and smack entirely too much of a monarchy.

As a result, a job lot of uniforms, white shining silver buttons, will be sold cheap for cash by Mr. Loebe, and many more gayly-hued garments which had been planned for the ushers at the executive mansion will get no further than the designing and the patterns.

Talks Mr. McKinley, Mr. Roosevelt knew of his secretary's uniform scheme from its inception and gave it his tacit approval with the understanding that it would first be tried in experimenting with the messengers and other attendants at the executive office.

If accepted quietly it was to be fully carried out; while, if it aroused too much opposition and ridicule, it was to be abandoned. Since the first publication of the livery scheme, Mr. Roosevelt has been hearing from the public.

The comment on the neat and distinctly American appearance of the White House ushers and contrasted them with the servants at European courts in a way that soon lined Mr. Roosevelt up against Mr. Loebe.

In the meantime he had read that President McKinley ordered Capt. Loeber, his doorkeeper, to put away the army uniform he had assumed by order of Secretary John Addison Porter and resume the dress of an American citizen.

Mr. Roosevelt has always had the most profound respect for the act of his predecessor, and it did not take him long to decide that what Mr. McKinley had frowned on was to be discouraged.

FOLK SPEAKS TO STUDENTS.

Two Formal Receptions Tendered to Circuit Attorney in Columbia.

Circuit Attorney Joseph W. Folk returned from Columbia Tuesday morning, after receiving one of the heartiest welcomes ever accorded a visitor at the university city. Mr. Folk went to Columbia to keep a lecture engagement made last spring, before the date of his announcement as a gubernatorial candidate had been discussed.

Mr. Folk spoke on "Civil Rights and the Law" and gave his hearers a detailed story of the law school situation. He spoke with much enthusiasm.

Before the lecture Mr. Folk was guest of the university faculty and lunchmen, and in the evening he was guest of honor at a dinner at the women's dormitory, given by the daughter of a close personal friend.

In the opening of his address, which was heard by 200 students, he said that he was glad to be in Columbia, which was the birthplace of the Butler trial, and that he was glad to be in the midst of the students who were so interested in the law.

He was met by a large group of students and faculty members at the hotel where he was staying.

JUNGLE CENTURY PLANTS.

Notre Dame University Sends Landscape Feature to Fair.

Four carloads of century plants have been placed in the basement of the Administration building at the World's Fair to await the warm days of the spring, when they will be placed on the borders of the great cascade.

The plants were purchased from the landscape department of Notre Dame University, South Bend, Ind. The plants had outgrown their surroundings on the university grounds, and were offered to the landscape department of the World's Fair several weeks ago at a very low price.

They are said to be exceptionally fine plants.

Has a Polar Bear Cold Feet?

This amusing little cartoon was started by one of our well-known shoe men in hot weather—painted all over town, run in the street cars, and finally run in the newspapers. The answer has been waited for by thousands of people, and is one of Harris' ideas for Patent Polar Cold Feet.

The shoe has a "Kushen Sole," which makes it very warm and gets the blood circulating for winter wear. Harris' Main Store 67 North Sixth street, St. Louis, Mo.
